Erin & her tutor Yadira working hard to improve Erin's Spanish.

Spanish Study Is Ending

We have completed two semesters of in-class Spanish study and now have three weeks of private tutoring under our belts. Our tutors will continue to work with us for three more weeks. In the nine months we have been studying here in Costa Rica our Spanish has grown in bounds. We understand much and get our points across, but, we are far from fluent. We were once told that we will receive 10 months of formal instruction and we will use the rest of our lives to perfect our language skills. It is now time to take our Spanish out of the lab and into the world.

Team Honduras Growing

With all we've planned for Honduras we always desired a large team of fulltime missionaries serving with us. Team Honduras is now growing rapidly. The McCanns will join us in the fall. Now, three interns (Andy, Jamie and Josh) are scheduled to spend 8 months in Honduras starting in the fall. We are also in various stages of talks with several other families and individuals. Pray for the healthy growth of Team Honduras.

All Our Bags Are Packed...

...and we're ready to go. Far from it. We have three more weeks of packing, tossing junk and saying goodbye to new friends. On June 25th we will leave Costa Rica for Honduras. After three years of praying, training and raising support we are exceedingly ready for the big move. We are simultaneously excited and nervous to finally be moving our lives to La Ceiba, Honduras.
